The pump allows water to flow throughout the pool and to go through the filtration system. The sand (natural stone and glass can also serve as filter materials) retains dirt to make the water cleaner.

TIP
FROM YOUR SIMA
DEALER

Did you know that you should clean your sand filter at least once a year? The best time to do so is when opening your pool in the spring.

HEATING

Heat pumps allow you to extend your pool season from earlier in the spring to later in the fall. You're able to get the most out of your summer! Of every type of heating system, heat pumps are the most energy efficient as they consume only a little bit of energy to produce heat.

Even more with the INVERTER technology

Quiet and energy efficient, heat pumps featuring INVERTER technology (also known as variable speed) maintain an ideal water temperature while ensuring 50% higher energy efficiency than traditional heat pumps. When turned on, they start at zero and gradually increase to a higher speed. This produces a stable current and reduces energy consumption. These heat pumps are also designed to work in low temperatures.
